Project:

Urban Greens Delhi

Project Coordinator: Prabhakar Rao
Funding Agency: Voluntary

Developments:

KV was a part of the informal coalition that raised concerns about the felling of trees and commercialisation of public spaces by proposed redevelopment projects in New Delhi. Kalpavriksh members helped inform the citizen’s collective about legal and regulatory procedures about tree felling and urban construction. Being on the Delhi Tree Authority it was possible to share the experience of compensatory plantations within the National Capital Region (NCR). This issue was particularly important given the critical air pollution levels in Delhi and northern India.

KV was invited to address and participate in a plantation drive by the India Professionals Congress in the large city park in Noida opposite Sector-15A. The Forest and the Horticulture department were part of this exercise. This was in the month of June on the World Environment Day. Some of the wrong pruning practices followed in the park were highlighted by Prabhakar Rao and the officials assured that this will be stopped in that season itself. This pertained to pruning trees like Lagerstroemia indica during flowering season. It was also agreed that the Polyalthia sp. trees will be allowed to reach their natural size instead of being pruned mechanically.

Badalukal 2017, the Kerala Vikalp Sangam, was held in Bodhigram, Adoor, north of Thrivunambakkam from 10th to 12th April 2017. The Sangam was the seventh regional vikalp sangam, and was co-organised by Institute for Sustainable Development and Governance (ISDG), Chalakkud River Protection Samithi, Kalpavriksh, Shanthigram, Gandhi Smarak Nidhi, Sabarmathi Foundation, Darsanam, Thanal, and Bodhigram. Participants included people working on health issues, activists working on land issues, academics, environmentalists, people’s science movement activists, educationists and journalists, painters, musicians and theatre artists. The Sangam witnessed stimulating discussions, some fascinating grassroots examples, presence of well-known alternative artists, delicious local food, and dance/musical performances.

Please see the report attached

Vikalp Sangam Core group meeting, 30 Nov – 1 Dec 2017
The fourth Vikalp Sangam core group meeting was held at Swaraj University Campus, Udaipur from 30th November to 1st December 2017. 30 core group members representing various organisations across the country were present. The meeting was inspiring in many ways, for one, it had very intense discussions related to the Vikalp
Sangam process, second, that the core group showed ownership to the process and last, collectively the group listed exciting possibilities for the future like others in group taking up the coordination process.

The objective of this year’s meeting was to review the VS process and its objectives, review the Alternatives framework note (5th draft), share reflections and learning’s from the past sangams, and, the relevance of the process itself, and to collectively plan for activities in the coming year.

As part of the ongoing series (with 12 Sangams having been organised across India thus far), a National Vikalp Sangam (NVS) was organised on 27-29 November, 2017, at the beautiful Prakriti Sadhana Kendra of Vidya Bhavan, co-hosted by Shikshantar and Kalpavriksh. About 100 people from various backgrounds, ideologies and interests came together to share their diverse initiatives, discuss broader issues of development and radical alternatives, and build further collaborations. The Sangam witnessed stimulating discussions, some fascinating sharing of grassroots examples, a night session on the history of alternative movements, film screening, and exhibits of alternative products and work.

Sangam of Sangams

As an offshoot of the Vikalp Sangam process, and in conjunction with several other networks, a Sangam of Sangams process was initiated in December 2016. The idea was to synergise movements and networks across India towards issues of justice and sustainability, facilitating the creation of peoples’ agendas on various issues. KV is part of a core team coordinating the process. A second meeting was held on 12 March 2017; the third and much bigger one was to be held in September 2017, but was postponed. Subsequently, it was decided to merge this process with the larger Convergence of Movements initiative, since many of the objectives are similar. Members involved: Ashish, Sujatha, Sneha, Shrishtee

5B. Research, outreach, networking globally

Project: ACKNOWL-EJ
Project Coordinator: Ashish Kothari
Project Team: Neema Pathak, Radhika Mulay, Shristhee Bajpai, Shruti Ajit, Meenal Tatpati and Arpita Lulla (intern)
Year of Commencement: 2016
Year of Completion: 2018
Funds sanctioned: 98,625 Euros (for all 3 years)
Funding agency: International Social Science Council

A number of activities are taking place as part of the Academic-Activist Co-generation of Knowledge on Environmental Justice (ACKnowl-EJ), the global collaboration with ICTA of the Autonomous University of Barcelona and other partners, including research, mapping, and dialogue. Additionally, members are involved with other global processes and networks.

EJ Atlas
For the Environmental Justice Atlas (EJAtlas) website, Kalpavriksh has commissioned or initiated cases from India, Sri Lanka, Nepal and Bangladesh. 19 cases were planned for 2017-2018; 12 have been approved so far and the rest are in process.

The cases can be accessed at www.ejatlas.org.
Rights of Nature Feature Map
Work began on creating a feature map on EJAtlas for cases of Rights of Nature from different countries. This will also consist of summaries and documentation of policies and international agreements based on the idea of Rights of Nature. A concept note has been circulated for comments, contacts have been made with organisations and individuals in other parts of the world who are working on this issue, and cases are being put up.

Alternatives Transformation Format (ATF)
Having been finalized in February 2017, the Format is being used in the ACKnowl-EJ case study on Kachchh weaving (see below). It was also sent to other teams in ACKnowl-EJ, and elements of it are being used by other partners. It is also being used as reference in the case studies that Azim Premji University is doing and by its students, as part of a collaboration with Kalpavriksh (see above).

Case Studies
1. Kachchh crafts assessment of transformation
Location: Kachchh, Gujarat
Members: Ashish, Radhika, Kankana, Arpita (intern)

As part of ACKNOWL-EJ project, Kalpavriksh (Pune) along with Khamir (Kachchh) is undertaking a case study on the Weaving craft in Kachchh with the Vankar community. The objective of the study is to look at the Weaving craft as a whole through the lens of the 5 spheres mentioned in the Alternatives Transformation Framework (ATF). The case study aims to study the ongoing transformation within this craft and community and also, analyse the role of civil society organizations in these transformations. A joint team of artisans, community members, independent consultants, Khamir, and Kalpavriksh team members is conducting this case study over a period of one year. The ATF will be used as a tool for analysis to look at the craft and the community from a holistic perspective. Methodologies to be used are – survey for quantitative data collection, in-depth qualitative data collection and analysis through interviews, focused group discussions, participatory video and photography, and exploratory field visits to understand the current situation of the craft and the community.

In 2017-18, relevant teams were formed, orientation sessions held, and several field trips undertaken. While a broad study of all the villages in Kutch where weaving is still being practised is being done as context, the in-depth analysis using some key elements of the ATF is being done in about 15 villages. A women’s team was formed in Avadhnapar in order to facilitate women’s participation and perspective in the study.

A participatory video process has also been initiated with young members of the community; through this, they will make 5-6 short films in association with Drishti, a development communication organisation.

2. Worldview of adivasis of Gadhiroli on well-being and development
Location: Gadchiroli, Maharashtra
Members: Neema, Shrishtee
The case study site had to be changed the second time in April 2017 when the situation in Mohagaon and Jhada Papadia became difficult to work in. Finally in August 2017, after discussions with local team members from Gadchiroli, it was decided that the case study should be located in Zendepar, Bharitola, Sahle villages of Korchi taluka which also faces threats from extractivism and is currently experiencing local resistance against extractivism based model of development. It was also decided that this study should be done in collaboration with Amhi Amchiya Arogya Saathi (AAAS), an organisation working with the local communities for decades.

The Kalpavriksh team, along with Mahesh Raut and Mukesh Shinde (local team members) visited Korchi in September to discuss the case study and its feasibility. Discussions were held with Dr. Satish Gogulwar, Mrs. Shubhada Deshmukh, and Kumari tai of AAAS. Subsequently, discussions were organised with the members of an informal federation (Mahasabha) of gram sabhas in Korchi taluka. All present agreed to co-produce and document such knowledge and narratives. Jhendepar, Bharitola, and Sahle were selected for detailed study, while Korchi taluka as a whole will also be looked at through taluka level people’s formal and informal institutions.

Discussions were separately held with members of gram sabhas (including women) in three villages (Bharitola, Zendepar and Sale). After showing interest in the study and re-emphasising a need for carrying out a study of this kind, the villagers under the guidance of Ijam Sahi decided to form local teams to participate in this study. In a trip to the site, the team gathered the basic data for the district and the three villages. They also did seasonality charting, generational mapping and exclusive interviews with the members and activists. The team also attended the annual Yatra (pilgrimage) organized by the people of the region.

3. Raika pastoralist worldviews
   Location: Kumbhalgarh area, Rajasthan
   Members: Meenal, Shruti

Having had to shift the case study away from the Dongria Kondh worldview in Niyamgiri, Odisha, to the worldview of the Raika pastoralists in Rajasthan, the following field visits were conducted in 2017:

- 11th June-17th June 2007: Preliminary field visit to Lokhit Pashu Palak Sansthan (LPPS), Rajpura, Pali District to visit the Raika community in and around Kumbhalgarh Wildlife Sanctuary
- 13th to 15th August 2017: Visit to LPPS to speak to the elders of the Raika community about the Worldviews on well being and development case study
- 3rd October-20th November 2017: Stay in Village Rajpura, District Pali, Rajasthan for the case study on Raika pastoralists

The initial aim was to carry out action-collaborative research with the Godwar Raika community, aimed at exploring the motivations of the community towards a pastoral lifestyle, based primarily on their notion of well-being which have prompted them to resist changes and interference by external factors; as well as to help the community to articulate any future visions of well-being and development that the community may have. During the course of the field work, the entire articulation for continuing a pastoralist lifestyle came from the men in the community. The Marwar Camel Culture Festival 2017, presented an opportunity to speak to some of the women in the community. As part of the festival, it was proposed to have a panel of Raika women talking about their dreams and vision of the future. To prepare for the panel, the team visited a group of women from Ranakpur village. Discussions ranged across various topics that were of special interest to the women in the community, from social customs and norms which can often lead to a suppression of their voices and desires, to pastoralism-related issues, the need for education, access and importance of forests for the women, etc. While their role as keepers of traditional knowledge and maintaining the finances has been largely acknowledged, their social standing within the community has prevented most of the women from actively advocating for their way of life to the outside world. Many Raika women were involved in the resistance and mobilization against the grazing ban which was put in place due to the proposed declaration of the Kumbalgarh Wildlife Sanctuary into a National Park. Therefore by the end of 2017, the focus of the case study was narrowed further to look at the community through the eyes of its women, and highlight articulations put forth by women. The following visits were made in early 2018:

- 27th January-5th February 2018: Field Visit to Hirabaugh (Ranakpur), Rajasthan for gauging the possibility of carrying on case study with women from the village
- 17th March-23rd March 2018: First field visit to Hirabaugh (Ranakpur), Rajasthan for the case study on Raika Women Pastoralists

Global Worldviews Dialogue

Within the ACKnowl-EJ project, KV is responsible to initiate a ‘Global Worldviews Dialogue’ (GWD). A brief concept note was prepared, and proposals for funding sent out by KV and other ACKnowl-EJ partners. Since ACKnowl-EJ itself does not have funding for this, it will take off once some resources are generated. Meanwhile, as and when worldviews get recorded as part of the India case studies described above, they can be shared with partners in other countries, and relevant material developed by them can be shared with communities here, for which also translation resources are being sought.

Project meetings

Members attended meetings of the ACKnowl-EJ project and of the wider Transformative Knowledge process of the International Social Science Council under which ACKnowl-EJ is being funded. These include:

- 5-11 June 2017: ACKnowl-EJ global project meeting and field visit, Beirut and South Lebanon: Radhika, Ashish
- 3 July 2017: ACKnowl-EJ and Transformative Learning teams’ methodology and reflections session, Barcelona: Ashish
- 3-4 August 2017: ACKnowl-EJ Project India Advisory team meeting, Pune: Meenal, Shruti, Ashish, Radhika, Neema, Shrishtee
- 26-30 November 2017: Transformative Knowledge Workshop on presentation of Case-Study Methodologies, Buenos Aires, Argentina: Meenal Tatpati
RADICAL ECOLOGICAL DEMOCRACY WEBSITE

Project: REDWeb
Project Coordinator: Ashish Kothari
Project Team: Pallav Das
Year of Commencement: 2018
Year of Completion: 2019
Funds sanctioned: 15,000 Euro (for 2 years)
Funding agency: Misereor

After a few months of planning that included soliciting original material from thinker-practitioners in various regions, Kalpavriksh launched a new website, www.radicalecologicaldemocracy.org, online in late September 2017. This is the global equivalent of its Vikalp Sangam site, and will feature radical alternatives from various parts of the world. It is a substantial upgrade from a blog, http://radicalecologicaldemocracy.wordpress.com, that was being occasionally populated. Pallav is managing the new site, with Ashish, and with the technical support of Pramod Sadalage of ThoughtWorks (in his individual, honorary capacity).

OTHER GLOBAL COLLABORATIONS

Rosa Luxemburg Foundation’s (RLF) working group called ‘Beyond Development’ held its annual meeting in May in Quito, Ecuador. Two KV members, Ashish and Neema, participated in it; Neema wrote a case study on self-governance in Mendha-Lekha for the meeting. While there, visits were also made to the Nabon community to understand their community-based initiatives, and to Otavalo to see community agroecology initiatives. A book of case studies including the Mendha-Lekha one is being brought out by RLF.

Discussion has been initiated amongst various groups and individuals regarding the possibility and desirability of an Earth Vikalp Sangam, or Global Alternatives Confluence. The idea was mooted in 2016 and has gained ground, but slowly as there are many pros and cons of holding something like this, and various possible processes towards it.
